Warehouse News

The third quarter was productive as we prepped for future shipments, encountered logistics challenges, and worked on smaller projects in and out of logistics. On July 22nd, Bro. Teruha Tokuchi's crate of personal belongings was picked up for shipment to Japan,[1] with an ETA in Kumamoto on November 8th. The trucking company falsely claimed we lacked a commercial load dock—which would have resulted in an extra fee—but this was easily resolved by sending a few photos. Additionally, after being connected through his sponsoring pastor at the National ABA Meeting in June, I wired $4,850 to Bro. Juan Santoyo in California on August 17th. Bro. Juan used his shipping industry connections and experience to handle the container loading and paperwork locally in California for a 40 ft. container bound for his mission point in Peru. Covering that expense made it the easiest container we've ever shipped!

We also navigated challenges and preparation for shipments to Tanzania and the Philippines. A crate shipped in January to Bro. Livingstone Lambert in Tanzania finally arrived after months of delays caused by the conflict in the Middle East. However, during inspection by the Tanzania Bureau of Standards, the toothpaste in 1,000 hygiene kits failed inspection because some had expired during the delay and overall failed to meet minimum remaining shelf-life requirements. Bro. Livingstone must pay for disposal, and we will reimburse that, learning from this mistake for future shipments. Meanwhile, we are prepping another shipment for Bro. Livingstone ASAP containing roughly 100 pews, church furniture (chairs, pulpits, tables), Bibles, and more. [2] We are also preparing a container for Bro. Bill Johnson and ICP in the Philippines, aiming to load during the last week of October or first two weeks of November so it arrives before Bro. Bill gets there next year. Lastly, when Bro. Lucresio Booc, missionary in the Philippines, visited our warehouse while in the States, we reimbursed his $75 extra baggage fee so he could take seminary books back with him.

Regarding our warehouse operations, the Arkansas Mission Builders came to dismantle about 50 pews on August 7th.[3] While we greatly appreciate their partnership in this work, storing pews until they can be broken down has created space issues. Moving forward, we will only accept pews if 1) they are already designated for a missionary/mission field that is ready and able to receive them and 2) are fully disassembled before arriving at our facility.

Finally, my family and I participated in a missions conference hosted by Hyde Park MBC with pastor Trey Emory in West Monroe, LA on Sept 18–20. This was a time of rest and encouragement. We were humbled and blessed by the love we received while were there.

Thank you for helping us help missionaries around the world!

AN IMPORTANT UPDATE TO OUR REPORTS

WWLMS Newsletters will no longer include our financial report on the back. Instead, we will be sending our regular reports to everyone on our list, while the financial report will only be sent to financial supporters once it is made available. However, the financial report will also be available on our website at wwlms.org/reports. This will allow us to get our reports sent in a more timely manner and include more information/pictures. If you have any questions or concerns about our reports, feel free to contact us.

I have also partnered with my brother Trey Campbell (director of the MBSF at LA Tech in Ruston) to film and produce a video documentary series on the Fruit of the Spirit. This series is designed to invite LA Tech students to understand the biblical worldview and the life Jesus gives. The first two episodes are now available on the Bear Witness Media YouTube channel.

Meredith Update

My grandfather, Joel Meredith, continues to need your prayers. He still has a great attitude, stays busy, and serves the Lord at Pleasant Springs MBC in Monticello, AR, but no one completely moves on from the loss of a spouse, especially after 60 years of marriage. He continues to be a great example for me and my walk with Christ.

Special Request

In our upcoming shipment to the Philippines for ICP, we will also be including items for other works in the Philippines, including Philippine Missionary Baptist Seminary in Davao City. Seminary President Terry Parsons has request these things for the school: commercial electric oven, air compressor for painting, pressure washer, push lawn mower, water hose 100m (328 feet), 15-20 liter pressure cooker, chairs (any type), and twin size mattresses. If you are interested in donating to this work, please contact me.
